

ABSTRACT

The invention provides an exercise device including a pair of body-worn portions having a pair of annular parts to be worn on foreparts of limbs and a pair of gripped parts connected with the pair of annular parts, respectively, so as to be gripped between fingers; and a stretchable connection member made of an elastic material by which the pair of body-worn portions are connected together.